PRICE BOOST ON NEW CARS NOT GRANTED

TIRES UP; CEILINGS SET ON FATS AND OILS

BY STERLING F. GREEN Washington, Aug. 23 (P)-OPA tonight dealt out price increases hand over fist to comply with the new law but refused another general boost for automobile ceil-

The agency announced its new "recontrol" prices on fats and oils, setting ceilings on margarine and shortenings one cent a pound above the June 30 level when the retail controls are restored Sept.

Tires went up two and one half per cent and ceilings for many popular make trucks were raised. But OPA denied the plea of automobile dealers for a three per cent retail increase to cover handling charges on new cars. This averted another general price increase on top of the 7.3 per cent rise allowed for new automobiles two weeks ago.

Dealers Get Loophole However, OPA announced it would grant increases to individual dealers if they could prove they customarily charged more for "handling and preparation" This solution, OPA said, will "comply fully" with the legal requirement that profit margin be restored to pre-war levels.

So far only $2,500 has been contributed throughout the city it was stated, with many business places still to make their contributions.

Committee workers were very much disappointed at the poor response to their appeal and efforts, to this much needed community

It was clearly pointed out that school authorities do not have funds available to purchase new uniforms or instruments for high school band members and if the band is going to be asked to play for community events such as football and basketball games. conventions, other high school and city affairs that the public would have to supply money for the uniforms and instruments

It was also stated that many boys and girls in high school can-not participate in athletics or other school affairs who can and deserve a chance to play in the band, with uniforms and instru-

The committee feels that the general public will wholeheartily support this appeal for funds even after a lag of a few weeks in the solicitation work.

Letters are going to all those industries, business places, and others who have not contributed, personal solicitation will be made to other groups in an attempt to raise the total amount needed so that the Escanaba High School band can appear a the early fall functions in natty new uniforms and sufficient instruments to make a musical organization that the city and citizens can be proud of as well as an opportunity for more students to participate in the band.

Bell Telephone Plans Interesting Exhibit At Fair

When the Upper Peninsula State Fair opens here Tuesday, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company will maintain a display featuring the telephone's part in modern

The exhibit will be attended by a representative prepared to answer questions regarding rural telephone service.

A tiny, model farm will be the center of attraction. It wil I be flanked on one side by illuminated photographs showing the progress during the last six months of the company's $13,5000,000 rural construction program, and on the other side by actual equipment used in providing telephone serv-

Two booklets will be available to visitors. One of the pamphlets outlines Michigan Bell's postwar plans to improve and expand rural telephone service. The other booklet contains questions and answers about a plan which permits a liberal, free construction allowance, thus enabling most rural families to obtain telephone service without any extra charges.

Floating Gambling Casino Poses Legal Puzzle

California legal minds are puzzled over what to do — if anything — about the floating gambling ship "Lux," built by "Admiral" Tony Cornero Stralla, gambling king. A converted minesweeper, the ship is anchored in the Pacific, five miles off Long Beach, Calif., well outside the three-mile territorial limit of the U.S., The main gambling room of the ship, about "as big as a football field," contains every kind of gambling facility, from crap tables and roulette wheels to slot machines. For thirsty patrons there is a flashy cocktail lounge and a 100-foot bar; a night club offers entertainment for those seeking respite from courting Lady Luck. Water taxis carry patrons from shore to the floating casino. (NEA Photos.)

The Lux, flagship of a gambling fleet Tony Stralla hopes to acquire.

"Admiral" Tony Stralla personally checks roulette wheel. Note row of slot machines in back.

From stem to stern and from port to starboard, the main salon is filled with gaming tables.

AIR-SEA MONSTER-A good idea of the tremendous size of Howard Hughes' 200-ton flying boat Hercules, the world's largest, is given in the photo above, showing the craft nearing completion at the Wilmington, Calif., graving dock. The 220-foot hull is 30 feet high and 25 wide, with wingspread of 320 feet. (NEA Photo.)

About 3,000,000 hapless hay fever sufferers throughout the country are starting their annual agony of sneezes which in most cases will last until frost comes this fall. Major villian in the plot is the tiny pollen spores of the common

WOW!—Since his discharge from the Air Forces last December, Fred Fader, Teaneck, N. J., fireman, had searched frantically for a home, canvassing agents, following up ads, badgering friends, with no luck. He was fed up. So when the Teaneck town council recently put up a six-room house for auction, Fader bid "One dollar" in bitter sarcasm. "Sold!" yelled the actioneer, and Fader at last had himself a home. At left, he's pictured looking at the house, which he'll move to a nearby lot he owns. WOE-Another veteran, James Pell Jones, bought a "dream house" at Mineola, Long Island, N. Y., for $9950. There was a heavy rain recently and, above, Jones is pictured vainly trying to stem the flood pouring into his basement through a faulty window. The month-old house has no radiator in the kitchen, no front burner on the stove, no sashweights in the windows and no sewer connections.

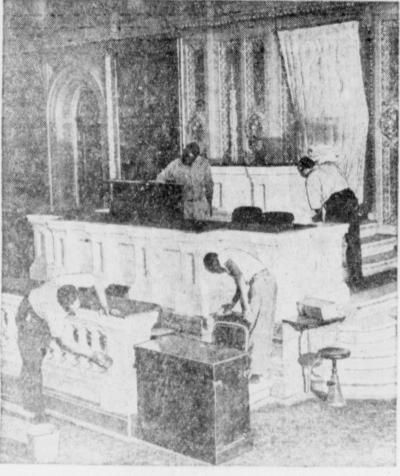

PHILATELISTS' ACE -- "Operation Crossroads" at Bikini atoll provided a bonanza for stamp collectors lucky enough to receive mail from the atom bomb isle. Each piece of mail going out from the Crossroads postoffice, aboard the USS Appalachian, was stamped with one of the special cachets pictured above. The top one is for Able Day, when an atom bomb was dropped from a B-29; lower cachet commemorates Baker Day, when underwater atom bomb test was made. (NEA Photo.)

In recalling this event one unusual fact is noted. The church, in reality, has two cornerstones. T original Swedish Lutheran church as it was then known, was built in 1895. A cornerstone was laid at It hat time. It was soon found that the structure was far too small for the church needs and the second church was built on the same site. Rev. L. Dahlsten, pastor in 1906, now resides in Kansas City,

A special invitation is extended to those who attended the services forty years ago.

The Best Is Often The Cheapest

The most important factors in the performance and staying power of your car are fuel and lubrication.

No matter how trim the old bus may look or how good its rubber is holding up, if the engine is out of kilter the joy of motoring is shot.

The best way to keep that engine purring and responding to the slightest pressure on the feed is to stick religiously to X-100 Motor Oil and Super Shell Ethyl.

These may cost a cent or two more than other motor oils and other motor fuels, but in the long run they are many dollars cheaper.

FREE-FOR-ALL HORSE PULLING

World-Wide Contest Is Planned At U. P. State Fair

In addition to the Upper Peninsula horse pulling contest at the U. P. State Fair, a world-wide free-for-all horse pulling contest will be conducted Saturday, August 31 at the fair, it has been an-

The contest will be run concurrently with the Upper Peninsula contest which is open only to U. P. horses. The national contest, however, will be open to horses from any part of the United States or from any foreign country.

There will be lightweight and heavyweight divisions, the first for horses under 3000 pounds and the second for horses weighing will be offered in each division. Rules of the Rorse Association of America shall govern the contest.

London, Aug. 23 (AP)-A U. S. carrier sailed today through the structor in psychology. most troubled sea on earth.

D. Roosevelt and its brood of smaller warships began their 'training and good will' cruise, international friction points were giving off spark.

Adm. H. K. Hewitt, commander of U. S. Naval forces in Europe, replying to news conference questions today concerning Mediterranean operations, said "don't get the idea that there are going to be any special maneuvers planned in the Mediterranean. After all, we are still at war as the treaty, hasn't ben signed and the forces down there are still operating under the same wartime command. Naturally there is training to keep up efficiency, but no special maneuvers.'

Vice-Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, commander of the U. S. 8th Fleet and second in command in the Atlantic, told the same conference that "I came over here to see how our naval units were getting along—and there is no poliitcal significance in the trip." He parried questions touching on the situation in the Mediterranean, saying "you're asking things I can't answer."
